Why you should move from Nortel CS1000 to Avaya Aura

Reduce risk, cut costs and get ahead

Switch to Avaya Aura NOW

If your business comms run on Nortel's CS1000 system you may be taking an unnecessary risk. Avaya provides a roadmap for CS1000 only to the end of 2013 so we strongly advise you to consider moving to Avaya Aura architecture at the earliest opportunity.

With innovative features and lower maintenance costs, the Avaya Aura solution is now available at half the normal price, so there's never been a better time to switch.

10 good reasons

Avaya Aura from G3.

10 Reasons to make the intelligent choice

- 1 Improve business agility and productivity with a feature-rich unified comms solution that has built-in video collaboration
- 2 Cut operating costs and maintenance bills with virtualised, streamlined comms services that are scalable and easy to manage
